

FREE Rocktopus songwriting event in Frome!!!

Saturday 25th May 2019

10am–12pm (take your seats from 9.45am)

Frome Town Hall (Christchurch St West, Frome, BA11 1EB)

Tickets are FREE but bookings for seats are filling up quickly.

Make sure you book for every adult and child in your party.

There will be no entry without a ticket.

All children must be accompanied by an adult.

Please bring your own refreshments.

Book tickets at:

www.ticketsonline.co.uk/rocktopus

With the help of experts from several environmental organisations, we will be writing and recording a song to help save the planet.

Come and learn about the issues facing our planet and what we can do about them as we combine the ideas into a song that will be professionally recorded! Your thoughts, your words and your voices will be an inspiration to people as they listen to our song about saving the planet.

On the day, you'll get to rock out with Rocktopus, be an integral part of the songwriting process, have your voices recorded for the final song and learn about what we can do to help save the planet. Our panel of environmental experts includes: Andy Parsons from Greenpeace (Peter has visited the Arctic and Antarctic on several environmental expeditions), Peter Gulliver from the Wildlife Trust (an expert on wild woodlands and bat conservation), Anna Francis from Frome Town Council (Frome's Local Resilience Manager and the person behind many of the amazing environmental innovations in Frome).